Thomas Oslund, FASLA, FAAR - is one of the leading design landscape architects in the country. His work has been recognized by the American Society of Landscape Architects, American Institute of Architects, and in 1992 he was awarded the prestigious Rome Prize from the American Academy in Rome. As founder and design director, Tom is responsible for setting the design direction of each new project. Tom's role in the design process is very interactive to ensure that the functional, practical and aesthetic elements of a design are achieved. Tom's interest in art and his passion for design are fueled by a commitment to excellence and innovation. Tom brings over 20 years of experience at a variety of project scales from 800-acre master planning efforts to a 5000-square foot rooftop garden. His belief in the collaborative process of working closely with clients, architects, engineers, fabricators and artists have yielded positive results and international recognition as an innovator when it comes to solving complex site design challenges.
